

Steve Wargalla
Data Processing, 1973
Managing Director, QStrat

Steve Wargalla has more than 30 years experience in the information technology field. Throughout his career, he has helped organizations worldwide solve business problems by applying innovative technologies. Notable achievements include the founding and tremendous growth of Impletech International Inc. This success resulted in the sale of the business to CGI Information Systems and Management Consultants Inc., the fourth largest independent information technology services firm in North America. Steve's experience includes the development of technology solutions in a number of sectors including automotive, industrial and healthcare.