

Anti-Black Racism in the Workplace: Exploring its Norms, Framework, and Pathways for Resolution

Nathaniel Marshall

BA, JD

Learning Objectives:

- 1) Understand how anti-Black racism arises in the workplace;
- 2) Learn about the legal framework regarding anti-Black racism; and
- 3) Explore how to resolve prohibited conduct in the workplace.

Wednesday,
Feb 8th, 2023
10:00 am to 12:00 pm

Register - <https://bit.ly/3HUnH7C>

This session will be hosted virtually

Nathaniel has conducted complex workplace investigations for both provincially and federally regulated clients in matters relating to: sexual harassment, workplace harassment, discrimination (particularly anti-Black racism), benefits fraud, bullying, workplace violence, and those concerning employer specific Codes of Conduct and workplace policies.

Nathaniel is also a Strategic Advisor to the Black HR Professionals of Canada Network, a not-for-profit social purpose collective for the advancement of Black HR professionals across Canada. He is a frequent lecturer at George Brown College's Continuing Education, the Law Society of Ontario, and the Ontario Bar Association.