1 Admissions

Applicants must use their full legal name, as required by RECO for registration as a salesperson when applying to a Real Estate Education Program.

Before applying, applicants should understand and meet the admission requirements for the Program. The Real Estate Education Programs' components and support services are delivered in English. Learners should possess strong English writing, comprehension and speaking skills in order to be able to successfully complete the program(s). Learners are asked to assert they meet the English proficiency requirement during application to a Real Estate Education Program.

Applicants are required to attest that they meet all requirements for admission to the Real Estate Salesperson Program and provide any credential requested.

1.1 Real Estate Salesperson Program – Admission Requirements

The Real Estate Salesperson Program consists of two phases with requirements to begin either phase.

To qualify for admission to the Pre-Registration Phase of the Real Estate Salesperson Program, an applicant must have obtained a Canadian secondary school diploma or GED certificate.

Applicants that do not have a Canadian secondary school diploma or GED Certificate may provide acceptable equivalency credentials (See: Appendix: Acceptable Equivalency Credentials). Alternatively, the Real Estate Education Program Office offers a Salesperson Admissions Exam to applicants without a secondary school diploma or equivalent. Successful completion of the Salesperson Admissions Exam is an acceptable equivalent for admission to the Real Estate Salesperson Program.

An applicant must be registered with RECO as a Salesperson to be eligible to register for a program component in the Post-registration segment of the Real Estate Salesperson Program. <See RECO registration policy and requirements>

1.2 Equivalent Experience

The RECO Registrar has the authority to grant an exemption for a program component in the Real Estate Salesperson Program based on an educational equivalency. If a learner believes their educational background and/or work experience is equivalent to any program component, the learner may apply to RECO for an Educational Equivalency Assessment. <See RECO equivalency assessment process>
