"My husband and I were living in Sudbury when this educational opportunity came along from CMU. We felt like we had won the lottery. We had the opportunity to maintain our busy lives and at the same time complete a Central Michigan University degree. It has had an enormous impact on both my personal life and my professional life, and I thank you."

Patricia Lang

CMU graduate and former President of Confederation College
Master of Arts degree, Community College concentration

The program is ideal for Ontario professionals working in:

- The Canadian College System
- Elementary & Secondary Schools as Teachers/Administrators
- Healthcare
- The Military
- The trades
- Provincial government
- Not-for-profit organizations

As a working professional, your time is precious and your experience invaluable. CMU's Master of Arts degree in Education with a concentration in Community College builds on your professional expertise and shapes that knowledge through research and application. In this program you will use the concepts learned in class and directly apply them to real world scenarios in your current work environment. You will take classes with other busy professionals on weekends to save time and learn from the experience of others through stimulating classroom conversation.

- The MA degree in Education – Community College program was designed for Ontario and is only offered in Canada.
- CMU has been delivering this program in Ontario for over 30 years.
- Classes are held at Humber College.

The program will begin in February 2015.

Central Michigan University in Ontario.
