

SIGNATURE

ASSIGNMENTS

If you have ever wondered about embedding meaningful authentic assessment into your courses, this workshop is for you. Signature assignments are complex student projects used in multiple courses and across time, with instructors partnering together to plan the project description and criteria for success. They allow students to delve deeply into one large assignment that integrates their learning from two or more courses in the same semester, rather than spreading their efforts thinly across numerous disparate assignments. Bring your course outline and program learning outcomes to explore how you can incorporate signature assignments into your courses.
