Martin Ejidra is a second year student at Osgoode Hall Law School. Prior to that, he received his BEd from Lakehead University and his B.A. (Honours) from the University of Toronto where he completed majors in Criminology and Equity Studies. Martin has worked as an occasional teacher with Canada's largest school board, a diversity facilitator with a not-for profit, and a curriculum developer with the Ontario Justice Education Network. At Osgoode, Martin is a junior editor with the Journal of Law and Social Policy, a student advocate for the Fair Change Community Services, and Mentorship Coordinator for the Black Law Students' Association.
