Culinary Students Support 30th Annual Festa D'Autunno

DEAN'S MESSAGE

Colin Bartley | Acting Senior Dean
Longo Faculty of Business

November brought strong momentum across the Longo Faculty of Business, with students and faculty coming together to achieve standout results through competition, creativity, and hands-on learning.

Paralegal Studies students rose to the challenge at the 2025 Capital Cup National Undergraduate Mooting Competition, with both Humber teams advancing to the quarterfinals. Their performance, against 28 teams from across the province, reflects the preparation, confidence, and collaborative spirit that define our students.

Culinary students and faculty also brought learning to life this month through meaningful applied experiences. A new collaboration with Island Chef Pepper Co. Hot Sauce gave students hands-on exposure to product development, while their continued support of the 30th Annual Festa D'Autunno saw students serving more than 400 guests as part of a cherished community celebration.

That same connection between learning and industry was evident at The Beauty Edit, where Cosmetic Management students led a fully student-run event from concept to execution through live industry engagement.

Together, these achievements reflect a community built on collaboration, mentorship, and real-world learning. Keep reading the Dean's News for these and more stories.
