The Dean's Message

January brought renewed enthusiasm and a drive for everyone to do their very best. Congratulations to Insurance Management alumna Anita Phonprasith for receiving an academic award for the highest marks from the Insurance Institute of Canada (IIC). Insurance Management Professor Annette Palalas was also recognized this month for her teaching excellence in the Chartered Insurance Program (CIP) by being awarded the top instructor by the Insurance IIC.

Industry connections continue to strengthen experiential learning opportunities for our students as the Work-Integrated Learning (WIL) Centre hosted networking opportunities with American Express and Pan Pacific Whistler Hotels.

International students now have the opportunity to stack postgraduate programs to stay longer in Canada. Students can use our new Stack and Stay Finder to find their perfect pairing.

Read on for highlights from motivational class field trips to graduates supporting current students.

International Students can stack and stay longer in Canada!

▶ humber.ca/stackandstay

Double your employability with 2 times the education and experience!

Apply now for your first Graduate Certificate and get the opportunity for early admittance* into a second program in the following year. Stack your education to potentially earn credits that will lessen your course load in year two, allowing you to work or spend more time immersing yourself in Canadian culture! Extend your stay and double your employability skills through two work terms across two business programs. The extra year of studies will give you qualifications for a potential 3-year postgraduate work permit.

Humber students who have started in their first Graduate Certificate program will be offered the chance for early admission to the second program during their first six weeks of studies.*

Please Note: International students interested in part-time studies must seek approval and guidance from Humber's International Student Advisor.

Find your perfect pairing!

Don't get stuck with a preset bundle, choose any two business programs to find the perfect pairing for your educational and career goals. Students can start their first program, learn where their interests are, and talk to professors and other business students before having to apply for the second program.
