UNDERSTANDING AND UNLEARNING ANTI-BLACK RACISM

Event Details

Date:

Friday,
January 28, 2022

Time:

9:00 am - 12:00 pm

Location:

Webinar

Dr. Crichlow has spent over 25 years engaging in research, teaching, service and public lectures in the areas of decolonization, anti-racism, LGBTQ2S rights, and equity, diversity & inclusion mobilization and development. He is an interdisciplinary youth scholar and community social justice activist who works with socially and economically disadvantaged youth, engaging in youth community empowerment.

Learning Objectives:

- To provide an intersectional framework for understanding slavery, colonialism and Anti-Black Racism (ABR)
- Highlight how ABR is reproduced in the curriculum
- Highlight how our behaviors, attitudes and institutional policies reproduce ABR oppression
- To provide methods, language and tools for disrupting ABR in conversations with others
