

HYBRID WORK TRAINING SESSIONS

As employees gradually transition back to working on campus, hybrid working arrangements are being considered. For many, this will be their first time working in a hybrid working arrangement.

“A hybrid working arrangement means that on any given day, team members may be working on campus, remotely, and on different work schedules.”

To prepare managers and employees for hybrid working arrangements, detailed training sessions have been developed to support employees and managers in the transition to hybrid working arrangements.

Training topics include:

- Humber's Remote Working Policy and hybrid working
- Managing and contributing in a hybrid working arrangement
- Ensuring well-being while working in a hybrid working arrangement
- Workplace safety
- Technology needs for hybrid working

Manager Training

Managing in a Hybrid Work Environment

This training will provide managers with an understanding of how to manage team expectations around work schedules and performance, as well as how to maintain strong communication and collaboration amongst their team while working in a hybrid work environment.
