Research in 2020+: Eruptions and Disruptions

Many parts of society, including the research sector, have been experiencing significant changes. What have been the key changes in research over the last decade, and what shifts will continue to shape the research landscape? What will be the impact of such changes on research professionals, individuals, educators, and research organizations?

We welcome you to explore these topics through student and industry presentations, at the 7th annual Humber RAPP Research Forum, Wednesday, October 30 at The Barrett Centre for Technology Innovation at Humber College's North Campus.
